Ahead of the 2008-09 season Leeds Carnegie ushered in a new era at the club with the arrival of coaching duo Neil Back and Andy Key.

In their first season in charge the pair secured promotion to the top flight and in their second season defied the odds by guiding their side to safety with a tenth place league finish.

The Opposition

Leeds Carnegie

Leeds Carnegie arrive at the Recreation Ground this afternoon following their first win of the season in the Aviva Premiership. The Yorkshire outfit got 2011 off to the best possible start with a 15-13 victory over Gloucester Rugby to bring themselves within three points of 11th placed are now unbeaten in their last three fixtures in all competitions and will be aiming to continue this run as they look to drag themselves off the bottom of the table.

After their dramatic survival last season from relegation when they over-turned their odds to retain their place in the top 10th place, the 2010-11 season began frustratingly for Leeds Carnegie with nine consecutive league defeats.

Summer recruitment saw a number of new faces arrive at Headingley Carnegie including England World Cup winner recruits. Thompson, though, has missed part of the season due to international duty with England, alongside Leeds team mate Hendre Fourie, who marked his rise through the ranks of English rugby with his debut against the All Blacks at Twickenham.

17 exited Leeds Carnegie at the end of the last campaign, as the coaching staff opted for a quality rather than quantity approach with the club's limited budget. Unfortunately early season injuries stretched those resources somewhat, with
