The Battle of the "Uniteds"

Whilst one "stern conflict" is in progress at the Memorial Ground where Bath play Bristol in the local "Derby," excellent fare is offered here to-day at the Rec. when the United XV's of Bath and Bristol meet and we accord an especially warm welcome to the Bristol United XV. Gone are the days, thank goodness, when Rugger in these local "Derby's" was non-existent. We now always look forward to grand games between both the 1st XV's and the United XV's, when the ball is given plenty of "air". Naturally both sides will be out to win—what's the use of playing a game if there's no effort to be "Victor"? but we shall see a good sporting contest.

Our own United were defeated last week by "Royal Arthur", but be it understood the mainstays of the United XV. were doing duty helping to beat Bridgwater and it was a definitely weakened side which sustained its first defeat of the season at Corsham. However, at the time of writing the United look like having a useful side out and so do Bristol for that matter, so here is to a grand game and may the better side triumph.

Remember the "crack" made to you Bob before the first game of the Season at the Rec? Well here's hoping!
